

CORNWALL

Botallack mining walk

This walk goes through outstanding historical and industrial sites set in coastal heathland, with rare wild flowers. Here, passing choughs with their 'cheoow' can be heard. The whole walk lies in the Cornish Mining World Heritage Site.

⚠ Steep and unguarded drops

There are some steep and unguarded drops. Please supervise children and keep dogs on a lead, or under very close control.

Information

Address: Botallack, St Just, Cornwall, TR19 7QQ

OS map: Explorer 102

Activity: Walking

Easy: A mostly level walk with some narrow and informal paths. Please look out for steep drops. For further details, please see Terrain section.

Dog friendly: Please keep dogs on a lead. There are some narrow and informal paths, some of which are next to steep, unguarded drops and there are mineshafts in places. Please be aware of this and keep to the footpaths Ponies/cattle grazing at Kenidjack valley and farm over winter. Please don't approach or feed livestock and keep dogs under control.

Full trail: Miles: 1 (km: 1.6)

Access: Challenging

Duration: 30 mins - 40 mins

Terrain

There are some narrow and informal paths, some of which are next to steep drops. Please take care. As this was a mine, there are mineshafts in places. Please be aware of this and keep to the footpaths.

Total steps: 4

Start point: Count House, Botallack, St Just. TR19 7PU

1. Turn left onto the track heading back to Botallack village.
2. At the ruined shed, turn right down the track to the coast.
3. At the engine house, take the right-hand junction east along the coast path. Continue along the footpath and head through the remains of the old tin mining works. More information on the mining works can be found at the Botallack Count House.
4. Turn right onto the track and head back to the car park.

End point: Count House, Botallack, St Just. TR19 7PU

